Wine & Spirits KIMCHI...with red wine?

TARA Q. THOMAS, JANUARY 2013

“(Zvy-gelt) is in the juicy, simple mode but has little age. This combination worked terrifically with the kimchi, the mature notes drawing out the umami characteristics of the kinchi, and in the process throwing the fruit into bright relief. Bernie Sun of Jean Georges gave this wine his top ranking.”

The Today Show

EDWARD DEITCH, MAY 2012

“...all about spicy cherry and has a subtle and intriguing menthol note. It is somewhat like pinot noir but more peppery. Softly tannic, its easy to drink but packs a lot of interest for its $10 price. Try it with burgers, pizza and other casual foods.”

Wine Spectator

KIM MARCUS, MAY 2012

“This medium-bodied red offers pleasant light berry and cherry flavors supported by fresh acidity. Meaty notes mark the firm finish, with hints of red licorice”

Wine Enthusiast

ROGER VOSS, JULY 2012

“This is light, fruity and spicy, with a crisp edge of acidity as well as a soft texture. Ready to drink.”
